

Thanksgiving Blessings

Greetings in the name of the Lord, Jesus Christ. For it is indeed “In him we live, we move and have our being.” Our God is great, and God is greatly to be praised.

My, how time flies. It is that season again where we take time out to enjoy the things and the people that are nearest and dearest to us. It is the season of Thanksgiving. During this time, I want to encourage you to take time out to do things and to hang around the people that make you smile. We are still in the midst of a pandemic, and we are yet witnessing in real time how fleeting and fragile life really is. Do not take these moments and opportunities to enjoy family, friends, and good food for granted. It is the will of God for your life for you to smile, laugh and enjoy. You deserve it.

Many of us have experienced so much over the past year and a half and perhaps are struggling to understand what all of this means. Life is unpredictable, which leaves us in the consistent posture of having to place our complete trust in God. If I would have told you that you would go through what you have gone through over the past several months, you would have never guessed that you would come out of it as well as you have. But the grace of God has proven to be strong, and the mercies of God has continued to meet you every single morning. God is faithful.

So, during this Thanksgiving ask God to open your eyes and allow you to see the beauty in the simple things in life. After all, I don’t believe God brought you this far to leave you. God has sustained you for such a time as this. Grab your shades, because your future is bright!

BE THANKFUL!
